

FAULTLINE

SEISMIC SCIENCE AT THE EPICENTER

Three types of faults

The three basic fault types: the normal fault, where one block of rock drops down relative to the other; the strike-slip fault, where the fault blocks slide horizontally past each other; and the reverse fault, where one fault block moves upward relative to the other.

